

My name is Chris Schilling. I am a native of Florida and moved to Texas before I had reached my first birthday. I grew up in Northeast Houston and graduated from Humble High School. I served on active duty in the US Navy and was honorable discharged in 1991. I have been actively involved in Houston Real Estate for over 25 years and took my first classes in the 1980's at Champions School of Real Estate. The early years in the business I was an assistant to my mother, Virginia Schilling, and learned the process. I have worked for Real Estate centric technology companies and taught realtors about marketing on the internet in the mid 1990's. I graduated from Texas A & M, College Station in 2006 with a BS in Economics and own and operate a small residential real estate business based in the Galleria area.
